PREFACE

It gives us immense pleasure to present this Annual Report of WORD for the year 2016- 2017. This year WORD turned twenty five. The twenty fifth year marks a critical turning point in the life of an organisation. It offers a wonderful opportunity to reflect back, to revisit the roots, to consolidate experiences, to celebrate and scale-up successes and learn from failures. It is again time to look to the future, to reassess priorities and strategies and to renew capacities so as to appropriately reposition itself in the context of the landscape evolving with time.

The development context and issues, as well as the NGO environment in India have significantly changed during the last years. The growing regulatory heat, changing legal framework (such as the new FCRA or the new Tax regime), the hegemonic influence of the new-liberal ideology over donor thinking and the funding climate, increasing stakeholder demands for greater transparency, accountability and impact- all these create complex challenges for NGOs. It is no more business as usual for NGOs. The great thought-leader of our times, David Korten, in one of his brilliant analyses, constructed the typology of Four Generations of NGOs; but we have arrived at a time when we have to design the Fifth Generation NGO appropriate for meeting the difficult challenge of the 21st century.

We are extremely happy that WORD and its Board are proactively responding to the future. The process of organizational renewal and restructuring has been key point of reflection with a central focus on relooking at our governance structure, management system, major policy framework, etc. towards Institutional Rebuilding. We take this opportunity to sincerely thank our donors, Government agencies, Partners, and all Stakeholders for their continued trust and support in our journey to realize our vision of a good society ensuring wellbeing to the people.
